

NHB and NYC co-present :

YOUNG CHANGEMAKERS - youth heritage kickstarter fund

A collaboration between the National Heritage Board and National Youth Council's Young ChangeMakers Grant

Overview

Administered by the National Youth Council (NYC), the Young ChangeMakers (YCM) Grant provides seed funding for youths to implement projects for the community. As part of Our SG Heritage Plan 2.0, the National Heritage Board (NHB) is now partnering the NYC's YCM Grant to provide additional funding and resources to empower youths to take an active role in preserving and safeguarding Singapore's heritage.

If you are keen to kickstart projects that promote the appreciation and understanding of Singapore's heritage, read on to find out more about the YCM - Youth Heritage Kickstarter Fund (YHKF)!

Co-presented by NHB and NYC, the YCM - YHKF hopes to:

- Build the capabilities of the next generation of heritage enthusiasts who will provide fresh perspectives, drive change, and become advocates of Singapore's heritage.
- Encourage youths to develop and implement heritage projects that are beneficial to the Singapore community.
- Encourage youths to contribute to the vibrancy and sustainability of Singapore's heritage ecosystem.

Interested applicants can apply to the YCM - YHKF via NYC's YCM Grant on the Application Process and Open Mic

'Project implementation' may refer to the first day where participants/target audience are engaged. For content-based projects (i.e. films, productions, campaigns, publications, etc.), the month of project implementation refers to the month in which production (e.g. filming) commences.

What is Open Mic?

- YCM Open Mic is a platform where youths pitch their projects to a group of experienced Youth Curators who are empowered with grant-making decisions.
- Open Mic sessions are typically held on the first Saturday of each month. You may check the exact dates here. If shortlisted after grant application, project teams will be invited to pitch at the Open Mic.
- At the Open Mic, you will get on-the-spot feedback, discover synergies and network with peers working on other projects.

Process Upon Grant Approval

- Applicants must inform NYC, NHB and the Youth Curators in writing of any changes to the proposed project. For major changes (e.g. changes in project scope/objectives), applicants are to only proceed upon the agencies' agreement. The agencies reserve the right to withdraw or reduce the grant if the project is found to deviate significantly from its original proposal.
- Teams are required to credit the agencies in all media and publicity-related materials. Materials are to be sent to agencies for review before production or release.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs)

What is the YCM – YHKF? How is it different from the YCM?

The YCM - YHKF is co-funded/co-presented by the National Youth Council and National Heritage Board to support youths who are keen to kickstart projects that promote the appreciation and understanding of Singapore's heritage. Projects must be relevant to Singapore's heritage/history to qualify for the YCM - YHKF and can be potentially funded up to $7,000.

I am not sure if my project qualifies for the YCM – YHKF. What can I do?

Please refer to the grant's eligibility criteria to check if your project qualifies for the YCM - YHKF. You can also write in to NHB_heritagegrants@nhb.gov.sg for further assistance.

What happens if I submit the grant application and it's assessed to be irrelevant to Singapore's heritage/history?

Upon submission of the grant application via the YCM Grant portal, the application will be reviewed by the agencies. Applicants will be contacted by the grant officers via email for clarification where required. Projects that are assessed to lack heritage elements required to qualify for the YCM - YHKF can still be considered for the YCM Grant if it meets the eligibility of YCM Grant (projects that benefit the Singapore community). The YCM Grant provides seed funding of up to $5,000.

When will I receive the grant?

The YCM - YHKF is disbursed on a reimbursement basis after the project has been completed in accordance with the original proposal and the expenditures are deemed to be incurred in relation to the delivery of the project. Applicants are required to submit the necessary project closure documents via the OurSG Grants Portal for the agencies to assess the completion of project.
